

In the Abstract

Please delete the Abstract of the underlying International Application No. PCT/EP2003/014579 and replace it with the following new Abstract:

ABSTRACT

A service vehicle for performing an in-space operation on a selected target spacecraft includes a communication module having at least one of a transmission and a receiving characteristic configurable in order to meet at least one of a transmission and a receiving parameter of the selected targeted spacecraft. In addition, a servicing system using the service vehicle and a method for in-space servicing are also disclosed.